For Sale : € 170,000

Description
On the edge of Nisou, the warehouses and industrial units of the Dali industrial area give way to open farmland. Here, three fields come together as one holding of 8,862 m², set in a hard-working landscape where business and agriculture sit side by side. The neighbouring town of Latsia and the village of Dali are both a short drive away.

Part of the land lies in an industrial zone, which points to business use in a setting already shaped by industry. Another part falls within a protection zone. Electricity, water and telecommunications could be brought to the land. The fields have no direct road access.

What stands out is the ground itself: a sizeable piece of land with industrial zoning, surrounded by the units and farmland that give this corner of the Nicosia district its character. For anyone shaping a plan for the land, it is a place where neighbours are already at work.
