Description
Life in Avgorou has an easy rhythm, and this large field places you right within it. Set among the homes of a residential neighbourhood, it lies within walking distance of restaurants, cafés and green parks, so a morning coffee or an evening stroll is never far away.

Zoned for residential use, the land offers room for a home of up to two floors. At 5,385 m², it gives you generous breathing space to plan a house and its surroundings with care, rather than fitting a design onto a tight lot.

A long frontage along the road gives the field direct road access, which keeps things practical from the first sketches of your plans to the day you settle in.

A sizeable piece of Avgorou, waiting for the home you have in mind.
