Description
In Lysos, everyday life stays close at hand. From this three-bedroom house, the village cafés, restaurants and shops are all within walking distance, and the village church is close by. A short drive brings Evretou Lake within reach for an afternoon outdoors.

The house is one of a small group of eleven homes, in a residential setting where houses sit among undeveloped parcels of land. Inside, an open-plan living, dining and kitchen area forms the heart of the home, where cooking, meals and conversation flow into one another. Three bedrooms and a bathroom complete the layout, and a parking space comes with the house.

The finishes are practical and sound: double-glazed windows, ceramic floors and an Energy Class B rating. Provisions for split units and central heating are in place, so the home can be set up for comfort in every season.

Here is substance over show: your own front door in a village where daily needs are a short stroll away, with the lake a short drive from home.
