Description
Pano Deftera sets the scene for this residential field, a short walk from the community church and the village elementary school, in an area of scattered homes. Everyday errands stay simple, with supermarkets and shops a short drive away.

The land measures 1,267 m². It has a fairly regular shape and a flat, even surface, so it is easy to picture a house taking shape across it. It has direct road access along its frontage, and electricity, water and telecommunications can be connected.

It sits in a residential zone and offers room for a family home, with up to three floors allowed. Picture mornings when the school run is a short stroll, and the pleasure of planning a home on level ground, shaped around the way you want to live.

This is a level, easy-to-read plot in a village setting, with the church, the school and daily essentials all close to hand.
