For Sale : € 102,000

Description
Akaki keeps the easy rhythm of a Nicosia village, and this field lies just beyond its centre, among newer homes, farmland and open, undeveloped plots. It offers an authentic alternative to city living, with the village centre a short drive away and the green landscape of Lefkovounos close by as well.

The land measures 1,779 m² and sits in a residential zone, with room for a home of up to two floors. Picture a family house shaped entirely around your own plans, with neighbouring homes on one side and fields stretching out around them, and the everyday life of the village never far off. Paliometocho is also a short drive away, widening the circle of village life around you.

The field has no direct road frontage. It is reached by a right of way over neighbouring land.

An uncomplicated piece of residential land, where a new home can take shape between village and countryside.
