Description
Close to the seashore in Akrotiri, Limassol, this field of 3,525 m² lies outside the village centre, in open land along the coast. It is almost rectangular, and a dirt road runs along one boundary, giving it direct road access. The field lies within a protection zone in the British Sovereign Base Area, where no development is allowed without prior approval. It is a sizeable, regular piece of land near the sea, with its own road frontage.
