Description
Set among vineyards and farmland outside Laneia village, this agricultural field covers 6,892 m² of rough ground that slopes gently westward and has an irregular shape. Dirt roads run along two of its boundaries and give it direct road access, and the field has access to electricity. Part of the land will be affected by the construction of a new road.

The surrounding countryside is mainly undeveloped, made up of farmed fields and vineyards. The villages of Trimiklini and Agios Mamas are a short drive away. It is a sizeable field in a working farming landscape, with ground suited to cultivation.
