Description
Views across the surrounding area and out to the sea set the tone for this residential plot in Peristerona, a Paphos village whose centre is within walking distance. Open parcels of land and a scattering of homes surround it, giving the setting an open, village character and a close connection to the landscape.

Zoned for residential use, the land offers room for a home of up to two floors. The site is sloping and irregular in shape, so a design that follows its natural lines will make the most of the outlook. It has direct road access, and electricity, water and telecommunications are available.

Picture mornings shaped by the view, an easy stroll into the village centre for everyday life, and a short drive to Evretou Lake for time outdoors by the water. Neighbouring villages such as Steni and Trimithousa are also a short drive away.

Here is the chance to plan a home around that view of the sea, rooted in the gentle pace of a Paphos village.
