Description
Village life sets the tone here. In Silikou, in the Limassol district, this residential field of 651 m² lies among homes and a few parcels still waiting for their own story. It is a settled, lived-in neighbourhood where a new house would sit comfortably beside its neighbours.

The residential zoning offers room for a home of your own, and the area allows building on two or three floors. It is a canvas for shaping a house around the rhythm of your days, from the layout of the rooms to the way it meets its surroundings. The land has no direct road access.

Everyday needs are close at hand, with shops and supermarkets a short drive away. The neighbouring village of Lofou is also within easy reach for a coffee or an evening meal.

An unpretentious piece of village land, with the space to begin a home in Silikou.
